Abrams Says South Ready For Takeover

SAIGON (AP) — Gen Creighton W. Abrams, commander of the 495,000 American troops in Vietnam, said today that South Vietnam's armed forces have

"prepared themselves for the rapidly approaching and eventual takeover of the defense of their country."

He set no timetable for a U.S. pullout, however.

"Our Vietnamese counterparts have demonstrated their willingness to endure enormous hardships in order to attain their freedom from Communist oppression," Abrams said in a message released to his command in commemoration of Veterans' Day next Tuesday.

Abrams' message was made public as North Vietnamese troops along the Cambodian border attacked four U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division bases north of Saigon, inflicting light casualties.

The enemy pounded the bases, one of them a brigade headquarters, with more than 200 rounds of rockets, mortars and grenades. North Vietnamese troops followed up one of the attacks with an infantry assault.

One American and one South Vietnamese civilian irregular were killed, and 24 Americans and seven South Vietnamese irregulars were wounded. Four North Vietnamese soldiers were known dead.

Up to 40 American B52 bombers retaliated by dumping more than 1,000 tons of bombs along a 130-mile stretch of the border.

Possibility Of Water Loan In Tehama Is Still Alive

By JIM KERKHOFF
TEHAMA — Tehama still has the possibility of receiving a requested $70,000 through the state Davis-Grunsky loan for the city water system.

Tehama has been granted an extension of time to add more information to a report to the California Department of Water Resources. The water system loan was discussed at Wednesday's City Council meeting when a representative of the water resources department, Harold German, visited the group. He said he felt Tehama didn't qualify for the "extreme hardship" concerning the ability of the city to pay costs of such a system.

Tehama's city engineer, Ed Anderson of Grimes and Associates, Chico, plans to revise Tehama's report and it will probably be presented to the city council at the December meeting.

Council members discussed some possible details to be submitted in the revised report. The Sacramento River overflowing in the winter, water shortages and the advanced age of the water pipes were mentioned at the recent meeting.

Council instructed City Attorney Rawlins Coffman to investigate various aspects of updating the business license ordinance. It has not been changed since 1922. Coffman will examine copies of ordinances of other towns and update Tehama's ordinance.

It was decided to order the spraying of weeds along street edges in Tehama.

The Council discussed a new sign to be placed in the city park and decided to get more bids on tree trimming.

The next meeting of the council will be held in city hall at 8 p.m., Dec. 3.

Leland S. Frey, Tehama County farm advisor and county director of the Agricultural Extension Service of the University of California, for the past 23 years, was honored last night by a large gathering of Tehama County farmers and friends at a dinner meeting held at the Crystal Banquet Room in Red Bluff.

Frey was transferred Oct. 1 to a new and important assignment in Sacramento County by the Agricultural Extension Service.

Chairman of the affair was Earl Davies, Flournoy rancher and manager of the 17,600 acre Corning Water District.

The group heard brief remarks about Frey's activities as a farm advisor in Tehama County from a number of leading Tehama County ranchers including Lula Martin, Squaw Hill, John Deming, El Camino; Ed Dutro, Tehama; John Noland and Walt Sartori, Bowman; Sheldon Jeffers, Paskenta; Lynn Raymond, Corning; George Pederson, Oak Park and Alice Snow of Antelope.

Frey was presented with a western hat and Mrs. Frey a brooch.

Assessor Disagrees With Tax Views Of Irene Hickman

The single tax theory that Irene Hickman, is planning to put on the ballot was contested yesterday by Tehama County Assessor George O'Connor in a TV debate on the Jim Dunbar program.

Irene Hickman's theory is that taxation should be on the dollar valuation of the land only excluding buildings and inventories that might be a part of the business or the property. O'Connor, on television, and in a statement to the Daily News yesterday, explained that there were three kinds of taxes, (1) taxes on earnings, (2) taxes on sales and (3) taxes on wealth. The tax on wealth is completely unjust says O'Connor, since the assessed valuation of real property in California is $53 billion while stocks, bonds and other assets such as deposits in banks and saving and loan associations amount to 139 billion dollars. O'Connor said that, "The rising cost of local government has caused Tehama County taxes to soar from $150 per person to $250 per person in the county."

El Camino, Corning Water Districts Elect Directors

Ben Scott, division three, and James H. Farmer, division four of the El Camino Irrigation District were elected to their respective divisions earlier this week in irrigation district elections. Scott won by a vote of 121-76, and Farmer won election in his division by a 111-87 vote.

The Corning Water District elected three directors, Jack Oliveira, 300,014 votes; Alfred A. Purling, 423,668.5 votes, and Ernest E. White, 279,529 votes. Ballots were based on one vote per $1 assessed valuation.

Two Men Threaten Nixon

MIAMI (AP) — Two men have been arrested in connection with threats on the life of President Nixon. Both threats were linked to the Vietnam war.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Mike Osman said George W. Baker, 51, of Miami, was arrested on a charge of assaulting a federal officer. Osman said John Anthony Baker, 24, of Breezewood, Pa., was charged with threatening the life of the President. Osman said the two were not related. Both men, arrested here Thursday were ordered held on $200,000 bond and both remained in jail.

Osman said the Miami man wrote to Nixon in May and said if his son in Vietnam was killed he would kill every federal official he could find, from the President down to members of the local draft board.

"Because the President was coming to Florida the Secret Service went to his house Thursday," Osman said, "and he invited them inside."

Osman said Baker took a high-powered rifle with a telescopic sight from behind his chair, "loaded it and pointed it at them," saying he was "ready to discuss with them."

A secret Service official in Washington D.C., Jack Warner, said John Baker had been wanted since Oct. 20 when a warrant charging he had threatened the President was issued in Pittsburgh.

POPPIES PLANTED — The planting of 21 acres of freeway right-of-way with 150 pounds of poppy seed was completed yesterday by the State Division of Highways. On hand for the planting was Red Bluff Mayor, James Hoffman; Highway maintenance supervisor, Ed Delano; General Chairman of the poppy campaign, Helen Stolp; President of the Berendos

Native Daughters of the Golden West, Kathryn Kuenty; Woman's Club President, Helen Stirling; and Ella Brownfield, Chairman of the History and land marks committee. To Hold Back To School Night Monday At Red Bluff High

Back to School Night will be held Monday evening at Red Bluff Union High School.

This is the night when parents "attend class" by following the daily schedule of their children. Classes will be of five minutes duration with time allotted for passing to the different room. The teachers will outline the work planned and also explain some of the goals of the courses. Appointments for future conferences, if desired, can be made with the teachers. Parents are advised to obtain a schedule beforehand from their child.

There will be a general meeting in the boys gym at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Allen Engel, president of the newly formed Parents Club, will give progress of the group's organization and tell of its future plans. At exactly 7:45 p.m., the bells will ring for the first class. Memberships will be available during this first period which, for this purpose, will be several minutes longer than the remaining periods.

Plans for the event were made during a meeting of the officers and interested persons, two representatives from the Student Council and Douglas Sale, principal, held at the home of Mrs. Engel.

Another name for the group was considered, Parents Service Organization, since all agreed, during the discussion, that the main purpose would be one of service to the school and the students.

One of the first possible services could be assisting in a supervisory capacity, such as at lunch time. This will be pursued at further meetings.

One of the projects mentioned as a possibility could be new tables and benches for the patio area. A wall on the south side is to be constructed soon to make additional eating capacity.

Wool Fashion Show Tonight At Fairgrounds

A wide variety of styles in wool, ranging from pants suits to dresses, will be modeled by approximately 52 entrants in the "Make It Yourself With Wool" fashion show to be held tonight at 8 p.m. in conjunction with the annual fall meeting of the Northern California Wool-growers at the Tehama Totem Fairground.

Winners in the two categories, junior and senior, will compete in the state competition in January. Local winners will have been judged earlier in the day and the decisions will be announced tonight, Mrs. Ava Teisetre, director for District 11, said.

The show is being preceded by a dinner meeting at 7 p.m., open to the public.

AAUW Topic On Present Campus Views

Dr. John W. Mamer of the University of California at Davis will present the second program on "The Academic Community — New Look on Campus" for Red Bluff-Tehama county branch of the American Association of University Women Monday evening. The meeting will be at the Berrendos school library, 401 Chestnut, Antelope.

Dr. Mamer is academic assistant to the Davis chancellor and associate director of University extension.

The business meeting will begin at 7:45 p.m., followed by the program at 8:30 p.m. It will be open to all interested persons.

Cone Church Women Meet

The Muller Ave. home of Mrs. Lorraine Bovee was the setting for the meeting of the Cone Women's Society of Christian Service.

Mrs. Norman Callaway, assisted by some of the members, led the program around the theme of Prayer and Self Denial. Those present were asked to share in the support of several Community Centers in the United States as well as India, Bolivia, Chile, and Mexico. These Centers are missionary projects carried on by the Women's Division of the United Methodist Church.

At the close of the service, the group completed the advance planning for the annual Cone Church Turkey Dinner on Nov. 14. The dinner is served by the women with proceeds used in the work of their society in the community.

How British Agriculture Looks To An American Farmer

By RICHARD JOHNSEN, JR.
Agricultural Council of California

On a recent trip to the British Isles it was interesting to observe their agriculture and their marketing techniques and compare these, not critically, with what we are accustomed to seeing in California.

The terrain in many areas reminded us of California's low rolling hills in early spring when everything is green. There the similarity stopped, however, as the farm houses and buildings were dramatically different; stone walls outlined the fields and the size of farms was obviously quite small. Farm machinery was not readily visible.

Livestock is the dominant farm product with dairy cows and sheep grazing almost everywhere. Hay was neatly stacked on every farm but, surprisingly, little of it was baled. Potatoes, turnips, rutabagas, Brussels sprouts and cabbage seemed to be the principal commercial farm crops with very small acreages being devoted to other vegetable crops and a few small orchards.

The east side of England had some larger farms with modern machinery and farming techniques, but the west side, as well as most of Ireland and Scotland, is dominated by the small farm.

In many rural areas the horse was still the most popular means of power. It was common, for example, to see dairy farmers heading in the morning toward their local processing cooperative with one or two five-gallon cans of milk on a cart drawn by a horse. In town, the horse carts would be mingled in a one-fourth-mile line of tractor-drawn trailers, small trucks and passenger cars waiting to dump their few cans of milk in the tanks at the co-op. Some farmers delivered their milk directly to the housewife, who came with her pail to be filled by dipper from the milk can. These operations seemed rather old-fashioned after viewing California's mass production of milk from giant herds tapped by milking machines which speed the milk into massive refrigerated holding tanks from which it is transported by semi-truck and trailer to processing plants. Even though the scale of farming in the British Isles could not be compared with farming in California, it was interesting to note in conversation with the people and in reading local publications that the farmers in both areas talk about similar problems. Like our own farmers, the British farmers were talking about high taxes, lack of marketing strength and the complexities of dealing with the Common Market.

To see what people in other parts of the world are doing and to learn a little of how they feel gives one a better perspective for evaluating what is going on here in California and for appreciating some of the problems that face the world as its various parts are continually being drawn closer together.

AERIAL CROP DUSTER — Specially designed aircraft are being used for crop dusting, covering as much area in thirty minutes as a ground team could cover in sixty hours. Aircraft are finding many other agricultural uses such as seeding, brush control and aerial cattle branding. (Daily News photo by Ed Andrews)

The Aircraft In Agriculture Today

The hedge-hopping, tree-dodging, cropdusting plane of World War I vintage and its gypsy pilot have come a long, long way in less than 50 years. Today, the pilots buzzing in low over tree tops and growing crops are using modern, specially designed aircraft.

To help produce more food and fiber for an expanding population, farmers are finding more and better uses for aircraft in agriculture. Today, about one of every six tillable acres in the U.S. gets some kind of an aerial application of materials each year, according to Frank Smith of the National Aviation Trades Association, Washington, D.C.

Carl Helmer, agricultural aircraft specialist for the Piper Aircraft Co. of Lock Haven, Pa., puts it even higher — one in every four. In Canada, aircraft have been used to map vegetation and soil type, and to survey crops for disease damage.

In Red Bluff, Keesairco Inc. is flying a spray equipped helicopter for multiple agricultural usage throughout Tehama County. Its use ranges from crop dusting, to range brush control and even includes some range seeding. L. H. McCurley, of Corning, was one of the original agricultural pilots in California, and still operates a crop-duster in Tehama County and throughout the state.

All told, there are nearly 6,000 aircraft providing custom farm service in the U.S., reports Farrell Higbee of Loveland, Colo., executive director of the National Aerial Applicators Association. He says the 2,400 flying services which operate them applied 65% of the agricultural chemicals used in the U.S. last year. Their pilots did the job in little more than a million hours flying time.

John Neace of the Bell Helicopter Co. of Fort Worth Texas, termed the "unofficial statistician" of the aerial application industry by Higbee, reports that 98% of the U.S. agricultural work fleet are fixed wing aircraft while 7% now are helicopters.

Among the latter are those belonging to Robert Wachs, president of a custom service business named "Arizona Helicopters" at Chandler, Arizona. Wachs is perhaps unique in the industry in that he gives his farm customers trading stamps for prompt payment of their monthly bills. The wives of his customers are displaying a keen interest in agricultural aviation and are among his best salesmen, Wachs reports.

Not to be confused with the aircraft applicators who make their living providing farmers, ranchers and others with custom aerial service of many descriptions are America's Flying Farmers. They own an additional 5,000 planes and 4,000 landing strips. Most of their planes, however, are standard, general-purpose, light planes rather than the more specialized workhorse kinds developed in the past 10 to 15 years for custom use.

Texas now leads all states in specialized aircraft with 853 registered, according to the Federal Aviation Administration. California is a close second with 839, while Arkansas is third with 367.

Charles Spence of the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association reports members of the association fly their planes for fence inspection, crop reporting, "branding" their cattle by dropping a dye on them, rounding up strays, and other more mundane uses.

He says that agricultural aircraft have all but mechanized the growing of about 85% of the rice crop in South Texas and large areas in Louisiana, and have helped increase the value of the south Texas crop alone by some $25 million a year.

Brush control has proved to be a most attractive investment for many western farmers and ranchers in recent years, and the aircraft is playing a bigger part each year. The control of brush is a leading practice in the Great Plains conservation program and many farmers report increases of 300 to 400% in grazing as the result of ground moisture which has been released by brush control.

Ken Lindauer, chairman of the event, announced that Cindy Roberson, will prepare the dinner and dance music by Dan Gallagher will be featured during the latter half of the evening.

The cocktail hour is set for 6:30 p.m. and dinner will be served at 7:30. Reservations for the event may be made by contacting Mrs. Nelson Butler at 527-2894. The price will be $3.50 per person and this will include a $5.00 donation to the Prune Growers Scholarship Fund.

Discuss Fairgrounds Repairs

By LEE PETERS

Inspection of the Tehama County Fairground facilities to decide on priorities for needed repairs or replacements was made by the board of directors Thursday preceding the regular meeting.

As a result of the economy cuts ordered by the state, the last three years, the fair board has had approximately $20,000 less to work with. With the possibility of another ten per cent cut coming up, board members decided that a priority system was urgent. Since the fair is part of the California State Fairs and Expositions, it receives its money from the pari-mutuel fund from the tax on horse racing and from the income on interim use of the buildings.

"Even though we get no money from the taxpayers for this fair, we like to keep the facilities in good shape for the people to use," Rob Martin, president of the fair board, said.

High on the list is the replacement of planks in the grandstand. "Those planks won't pass the Health and Safety Committee," Joseph A. Soares, secretary-manager, told the board.

"We'll have to have them repaired before Round-Up time." The inspection included the grandstand, barns, and cafeteria building before it was cut short by the bad weather. The remaining facilities will be inspected later.

The subject of repairs was brought up again during the meeting with three representatives from the Junior Rodeo,

Prune Growers Hold Annual Dinner-Dance

Tehama County Prune Growers have set Saturday, Dec. 6, as the date for their tenth annual winter dinner-dance, to be held at the Veterans Hall in Los Molinos.

Ken Lindauer, chairman of the event, announced that Cindy Roberson, will prepare the dinner and dance music by Dan Gallagher will be featured during the latter half of the evening.

The cocktail hour is set for 6:30 p.m. and dinner will be served at 7:30. Reservations for the event may be made by contacting Mrs. Nelson Butler at 527-2894. The price will be $3.50 per person and this will include a $5.00 donation to the Prune Growers Scholarship Fund.

California Almond Growers Exchange Use Computer To Speed Orders

SACRAMENTO—Food processors may not know it, but a computer in California is making sure that one of their key ingredients — almonds — is always available when they need it.

An IBM System-360 Model 40 helps the California Almond Growers Exchange (CAGE) deliver the right size and variety of nuts at the right time to its customers throughout the world. The candy industry uses about 40 per cent of each crop, and the exchange also supplies important customers in the bakery, ice cream and grocery industries.

A cooperative owned by its 4,700 producer members, CAGE is a processing and marketing organization, handling more than 70 per cent of the almonds grown in the United States. All domestic production comes from 220,000 acres in California.

In addition to its industrial products, CAGE markets specialty and snack items and gift packs under the Blue Diamond brand. Altogether its inventory runs to nearly 1,000 different grades and packs of almonds.

"We will process about 85 million shelled pounds this year," said Rupert Wrangham, secretary-treasurer or the organization. "We accept and process every pound our members produce, and our job is to return as much as possible of the sales dollar to them."

From the time the farmer first brings his autumn-ripe almonds to the CAGE processing plant near downtown

Sacramento, the IBM system plays a key role. It begins by writing him a statement and a check for partial payment upon delivery, then continues to send him advances until he is fully paid the following July.

"We make these progress payments as the crop is sold and turns to cash," Mr. Wrangham explained. "Producers ultimately receive all crop proceeds, minus our costs for marketing and processing."

State Senator Wants Tighter DDT Controls

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A state senator who wants an outright ban on the use of all DDT says proposed new controls on the pesticide balanced "poisons for profit versus people, and the people have lost."

The sharp attack came Wednesday from Republican Sen. John A. Nejedly of Walnut Creek, author of unsuccessful legislation this year that would have completely barred the use of DDT in California.

He criticized recent proposed regulations by the State Agriculture Department which on Jan. 1 would prohibit the use of DDT and the stronger DDD for various uses on certain crops.

Nejedly said that the limitations will have little practical effect. "Almost all of the prohibited uses no longer rely upon DDT or DDD in any substantial amounts. . . . The publicized report fails to include the entire broad use still permitted including the enormous use on cotton."

He said J. S. Swift, a University of California professor whose recommendations led to the recent proposals, "balanced the concerns of poisons for profit versus people and the people have lost."

Australian Meat Interests Hire Capitol Lobbyist

SAN FRANCISCO — Australian meat producers have hired a Washington, D.C., lobbyist to look after Australian meat interests in the United States, according to local sources.

The American National Cattlemen's Association interprets the move as aimed at "helping Australia obtain larger beef imports into the United States. Australian and New Zealand export one billion pounds of meat to this country a year."

Sheepmen To Meet In Sacramento December 12

Walnut Growers To Negotiate Surpluses

California walnut growers, before committing the sale of their 1969 crop, should understand fully the implications of the 18 per cent "surplus pool" recently declared under the Federal Marketing Order.

Henry Voss, chairman of the California Farm Bureau Federation's Edible Tree Nut Advisory Committee, is urging growers to negotiate sales to handlers on the basis that the 18 per cent pool is the obligation of the handler, not the grower. The Marketing Order, by law, can be applied only to handlers, not directly to growers.

Voss noted that some growers might be misled by handlers as to the value of this pool. Provisions of the Marketing Order stipulate that the pooled walnuts can be sold in export or diverted to by-products. Therefore, he observed, handlers generally are able to obtain full value from the entire volume, including the 18 per cent.

Growers should seriously consider these facts before agreeing to a price on their crop, Voss said.

Australian Meat Interests Hire Capitol Lobbyist

SAN FRANCISCO — Australian meat producers have hired a Washington, D.C., lobbyist to look after Australian meat interests in the United States, according to local sources.

The American National Cattlemen's Association interprets the move as aimed at "helping Australia obtain larger beef imports into the United States. Australian and New Zealand export one billion pounds of meat to this country a year."

The Australian Consulate General here says the main object of the move is to insure that the Australian meat industry is kept fully informed of all legal moves in the U.S. affecting the industry.

The lobbyist, according to the Western State Meat Packers here, is a firm of attorneys which includes Clark Clifford, Secretary of Defense in the Johnson Administration.

Not to be confused with the aircraft applicators who make their living providing farmers, ranchers and others with custom aerial service of many descriptions are America's Flying Farmers. They own an additional 5,000 planes and 4,000 landing strips. Most of their planes, however, are standard, general-purpose, light planes rather than the more specialized workhorse kinds developed in the past 10 to 15 years for custom use. Texas now leads all states in specialized ag aircraft with 853 registered, according to the Federal Aviation Administration. California is a close second with 839, while Arkansas is third with 367.

Charles Spence of the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association reports members of the association fly their planes for fence inspection, crop reporting, "branding" their cattle by dropping a dye on them, rounding up strays, and other more mundane uses.

He says that agricultural aircraft have all but mechanized the growing of about 85% of the rice crop in South Texas and large areas in Louisiana, and have helped increase the value of the south Texas crop alone by some $25 million a year. Brush control has proved to be a most attractive investment for many western farmers and ranchers in recent years, and the aircraft is playing a bigger part each year. The control of brush is a leading practice in the Great Plains conservation program and many farmers report increases of 300 to 400% in grazing as the result of ground moisture which has been released by brush control.

Prune Growers Hold Annual Dinner-Dance

The cocktail hour is set for 6:30 p.m. and dinner will be served at 7:30. Reservations for the event may be made by contacting Mrs. Nelson Butler at 527-2894. The price will be $3.50 per person and this will include a $5.00 donation to the Prune Growers Scholarship Fund.

Milk Distributors Petition State For Public Hearing

Minimum wholesale and minimum retail prices of milk in the Shasta-Tehama Milk Marketing Area will be reviewed at a public hearing in Redding on November 18, the California Department of Agriculture said today. The hearing will be held in Room 312, Shasta County Court House, Court and Yuba Streets, Redding, beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Milk distributors petitioned State Director of Agriculture Jerry W. Fielder for this review. Department officials said. The distributors' request stated that savings due to operating efficiencies have not offset reductions in revenue from larger wholesale discounts which became effective in April of this year.

California Almond Growers Exchange Use Computer To Speed Orders

SACRAMENTO—Food processors may not know it, but a computer in California is making sure that one of their key ingredients — almonds — is always available when they need it.

An IBM System-360 Model 40 helps the California Almond Growers Exchange (CAGE) deliver the right size and variety of nuts at the right time to its customers throughout the world. The candy industry uses about 40 per cent of each crop, and the exchange also supplies important customers in the bakery, ice cream and grocery industries.

A cooperative owned by its 4,700 producer members, CAGE is a processing and marketing organization, handling more than 70 per cent of the almonds grown in the United States. All domestic production comes from 220,000 acres in California.

In addition to its industrial products, CAGE markets specialty and snack items and gift packs under the Blue Diamond brand. Altogether its inventory runs to nearly 1,000 different grades and packs of almonds.

"We will process about $5 million shelled pounds this year," said Rupert Wrangham, secretary-treasurer of the organization. "We accept and process every pound our members produce, and our job is to return as much as possible of the sales dollar to them."

From the time the farmer first brings his autumn-ripe almonds to the CAGE processing plant near downtown

Sacramento, the IBM system plays a key role. It begins by writing him a statement and a check for partial payment upon delivery, then continues to send him advances until he is fully paid the following July.

Shameful Story Of Looting Sergeants

By JACK ANDERSON
WASHINGTON — The shameful story of sergeants who looted overseas PXs and GI clubs is far from ended. Tales of murdered witnesses, Swiss bank accounts, and bizarre payroll padding remain to be told.

One of the most sordid of these episodes is described in a confidential staff report prepared by Senate investigators in Vietnam for Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn.

The proud, battle-seasoned First Infantry Division is the focus of the dramatic report. Its main character is Staff Sergeant George Lum, bookkeeper of a club system established to relax, not bulk, its soldier-patrons.

Lum prospered far from the front where First Infantry units have been fighting the elusive Viet Cong. He and his Vietnamese wife, Ha, lived like two potentates in a rent-free Saigon villa. Lum allegedly banked $200,000 in a secret Swiss account.

The high-living staff sergeant was on the club payroll for $300 a month. He also wangled a job for his wife. Her father, Hoang Dac Hy, got another $2,000 a month for providing the clubs with bread and vegetables.

Ribicoff's gushes, however, reported: "Hoang Dac Hy's bread is inferior and goes stale quickly and his vegetables, with the exception of the onions, are the frequent target of complaints from cooks and managers all through the division club system."

constructed from sworn statements. This scene occurred: Perry: "Sergeant Chapman, I don't want to see you in my warehouse again or I'll kill you. I'll blow your — brains out. Do you understand?" Chapman: "Yes." Perry: "That is not a threat, that is a promise."

As a result of this incident, Perry was put under investigation by Army criminal agents on charges that he threatened to murder a witness.

WITNESS MURDERED
Another non-com reportedly knew about the activities of Lum and Perry, but the Senate investigators got to the scene 12 days too late to interview him. He was specialist 4 Jose Antonio Calderon-Pacheco.

President Nixon added a postscript to his plan to give the consumers new status in the government. In a blaze of publicity, he called for new measures to protect the consumers and declared that his consumer adviser, Mrs. Virginia Knauer, will have a direct pipeline to him.

After the press had departed and the kleig lights were switched off, however, he cautioned Mrs. Knauer that she should put special emphasis on protecting the health of the consumers, not in leading an assault upon producers. Mrs. Knauer interpreted her instructions, according to insiders, to mean that she should crack down on unsafe products but should be less vigorous in attacking high prices.

Note: The President remarked, astonishingly, that 938 different federal offices deal in one way or another with consumer matters. He asked Mrs. Knauer to correlate their activities.

$1.60 PENSION
Lum's father-in-law is an ex-South Vietnamese soldier with a $1.60 monthly pension. But his sergeant son-in-law's influence has eased his poverty. Hoang and his wife now own a $7,200 house — a mansion by Vietnam standards.

Lum's provident wife, Ha, used her husband's office to negotiate a side deal with one of her father's pals to print $2,000 a-month worth of unneeded "chits" — a sort of currency used within the club system.

For three years, Lum lived better on enlisted men's funds than some stateside generals. He was briefly troubled by Army auditors, but solved that problem neatly by destroying three years of club records.

Eventually, a disgusted comrade, Sergeant Frederick Chapman, turned in Lum and a warehouseman, identified in the confidential staff memo only as "Sergeant Perry," to Army criminal investigators for falsifying records in order to steal beer.

Chapman quickly encountered the sergeants' revenge. As reportedly was collecting $200 and $300 payments for keeping quiet about dishonesty in the club system at the time he was shot down. His murder, apparently, was precipitated by word that Ribicoff was on the trail of illegal PX and GI club activities.

Note: The threatened Sergeant Chapman was transferred to another division to prevent a similar disaster. The Senate investigators reported that he "is obviously afraid for his life (and) caught up in a dangerous situation because he bothered to report to authorities what no one else had the courage — or the inclination — to do."

Red Bluff Yesterdays

Nov. 8, 1939
Tehama retained its title of California's smallest incorporated city yesterday when residents voted 44 to 55 against a disincorporated measure. A proposal to clip nearly 150 acres of agricultural land from the city limits was defeated 39 to 50. Efforts have been made to change the city's boundaries or disincorporate many times since Tehama was incorporated in 1906. Yesterday's vote was declared the narrowest margin of victory for those who oppose either plan.

Meeting at the home of Patty Pickell's last evening, the Junior Women's Club discussed and set committees for their third annual backward dance to be given Nov. 21 at the Woman's Clubhouse. Carolyn Winter was appointed head of the general committee with the following: refreshments, Billie Folger, Leslie Childs and Janet Turner; advertising, Janice Gravette and Charlyne Luther; decoration, Marjorie Dexter; and clean-up, Marie Hasselau.

Nov. 8, 1869
Two brothers named Graham while hunting for bears near Cottonwood had had a terrible fight with a bear in which James Graham was seriously wounded. He received two bites in the right upper side of the leg and as many more on the lower part. He was also bitten on the right side of his chest, injuring two ribs and penetrating the cavity of the lungs, causing a dangerous wound. Dr. Cameron informs us that the man is doing well and will probably recover.

On this date: In 1511, the Spanish conqueror, Hernando Cortez, reached Mexico City.

In 1739, the Louvre Museum in Paris was opened to the public.

In 1889, Montana became the 41st state.

In 1904, President Theodore Roosevelt was elected.

In 1960, John F. Kennedy was elected president, defeating Richard M. Nixon.

In 1963, Mrs. Franklin D.

Roosevelt died in New York City.

Ten years ago: The United Arab Republic and the Sudan ended five years of negotiation by signing an agreement for the division of Nile Valley waters.

Five years ago: Leaders of all Communist states except Albania were in Moscow to help celebrate the 47th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution. The presence of Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai was a surprise.

$1.60 PENSION
Lumm's father-in-law is an ex-South Vietnamese soldier with a $1.60 monthly pension. But his sergeant son-in-law's influence has eased his poverty. Hoang and his wife now own a $7,200 house — a mansion by Vietnam standards.

Lumm's provident wife, Ha, used her husband's office to negotiate a side deal with one of her father's pals to print $2,000 a-month worth of unneeded "chits" — a sort of currency used within the club system.

For three years, Lumm lived better on enlisted men's funds than some stateside generals. He was briefly troubled by Army auditors, but solved that problem neatly by destroying three years of club records.

Eventually, a disgusted comrade, Sergeant Frederick Chapman, turned in Lumm and a warehouseman, identified in the confidential staff memo only as "Sergeant Perry," to Army criminal investigators for falsifying records in order to steal beer.

Chapman quickly encountered the sergeants' revenge. As reported, "Calderon's body was found June 4, 1969," reported the staff document. "He had been shot to death at close range in the head and stomach by a .45 caliber automatic pistol."

The staff sleuths added grimly: "The price of having someone killed here is as low as $50."

The victim reportedly was collecting $200 and $300 payments for keeping quiet about dishonesty in the club system at the time he was shot down. His murder, apparently, was precipitated by word that Ribicoff was on the trail of illegal PX and GI club activities.

Note: The threatened Sergeant Chapman was transferred to another division to prevent a similar disaster. The Senate investigators reported that he "is obviously afraid for his life (and) caught up in a dangerous situation because he bothered to report to authorities what no one else had the courage — or the inclination — to do."

Tehama retained its title of California's smallest incorporated city yesterday when residents voted 44 to 55 against a disincorporation measure. A proposal to clip nearly 150 acres of agricultural land from the city limits was defeated 39 to 50. Efforts have been made to change the city's boundaries or disincorporate many times since Tehama was incorporated in 1906. Yesterday's vote was declared the narrowest margin of victory for those who oppose either plan.

Meeting at the home of Patty Pickell's last evening, the Junior Women's Club discussed and set committees for their third annual backward dance to be given Nov. 21 at the Woman's Clubhouse. Carolyn Winter was appointed head of the general committee with the following: refreshments, Billie Folger, Leslie Childs and Janet Turner; advertising, Janice Gravette and Charlyne Luther; decoration, Marjorie Dexter; and clean-up, Marie Hasselau.

Two brothers named Graham while hunting for bears near Cottonwood had had a terrible fight with a bear in which James Graham was seriously wounded. He received two bites in the right upper side of the leg and as many more on the lower part. He was also bitten on the right side of his chest, injuring two ribs and penetrating the cavity of the lungs, causing a dangerous wound. Dr. Cameron informs us that the man is doing well and will probably recover.

So popular are the cable cars in San Francisco that, instead of getting rid of them, more are being built and the routes lengthened.

Corning Cardinals Upset Orland In Homecoming Game, 14 to 6

By JOHN WILSON
Corning climaxed their Homecoming last night as both the J.V. and the varsity dumped the Orland Trojans. The Cardinals scored twice in the first half and held the Trojans for a 14 to 6 score. In the scoreless second half, both teams were able to stop offensive drives. Penalties put a damper on both offensive teams.

The varsity game started off by Corning kicking to Orland. The Trojans managed a 55 yard drive with Reine and Matousek connecting on passes and runs. Matousek bulled his way over the goal line from four yards out but the conversion pass was incomplete.

It was early in the second quarter when Corning scored. Ken White and Dale West moved the ball downfield with twenty seconds gone in the second quarter. White took the ball in from the five yard line. The extra point try was incomplete tying the score at 6-6.

The Trojans started another drive and went 13 yards before the ball was recovered by John Stover. From the 31 yard line, West and White moved the ball into scoring position where Ellis skipped around end for the third touchdown of the game. Ken White carried the ball across the goal line and added two points to make the score 14 to 6.

Orland moved the ball 26 yards to the Cardinal 21 but on a fourth down play the ball was fumbled which was recovered by Ron Salado.

With little time remaining in the first half, Orland came close to getting the ball at the Cardinal 11. Corning had a kick blocked on a third down. The ball was recovered and kicked again by the Cards. The Trojans were downed at the 36 yard line. From here, Corning's defense held them.

At halftime of the varsity game, the Cardinals Homecoming Queen Marcia Milton was crowned by the Cardinal co-captains Ken White and Dale West. Also introduced were class princesses, juniors Laurie McKinney, sophomore Cindy Perry, and freshman Denise La Musga.

The seniors received the trophy for the most outstanding float in the Homecoming parade. The third quarter started off with the Cardinals taking the ball to the 35 yard line. Although both teams continued to grind out yardage, the Cardinal defense appeared to hold the edge.

The biggest yardage gain in the second half by Orland appeared to be by penalties. The Corning pass rush on Orland held the Trojans to little or no yardage forcing them to grind out short yardage.

Randy and Ron Salado were particularly effective in throwing Dennis Ballock, the Orland quarterback, for large losses.

Linebacker Sonny Crawford gave the Cardinals one opportunity to score as he intercepted a pass at the 35 yard line.

A clipping penalty on the third play stopped the drive and forced the Cardinals to kick. Neither team was able to make any headway in the fourth quarter.

In the closing minutes of the game, Ellis intercepted a pass to stop an Orland drive. Corning was not able to run out the clock giving Orland the final twenty seconds of ball control. The final pass play went incomplete giving Corning the victory.

Dave Lucero and Rocky Hale proved to be the baby Cards offensive stars as they contributed two touchdowns a piece. Lucero was the leading yardage gainer of the evening as he scored the first two Corning touchdowns. He also added a two point conversion as the J.V. won 28 to 14.

Three Los Molinos Players All-League

By PAUL CLEGG
Los Molinos Bulldogs, hurt by the prune harvest, too few ballplayers, and injuries to key players, still managed to produce a team that came up with three all-league selections. The three were named to the Northern Valley League all-star team at a meeting this week. Official announcement will be made next week.

Seniors Ken Wohletz and Joe Costa were named to the offensive guard positions while junior Darrell Mullins took the defensive tackle spot. For Costa, this is his second year as an all-league choice.

Los Molinos ended its season last Saturday in the third quarter of its game with Hayfork. The Bulldogs were outclassed by Hayfork but the forfeit summed up the problems of Los Molinos. Dave Morey was the third Los Molinos player to be injured that game which meant that Coach Ron Gleason had the choice of playing an injured man or forfeiting the game since only ten healthy players remained. Even before the game, the Bulldogs were without the services of four starters, who had been lost at various points in the season.

The Bulldogs had a poor season, with one win, six losses and a tie. Coach Gleason believes that if his team had more players, they would have won a good percentage of their games. He feels that having to play both ways put undue physical strain on his team so that they suffered in the second halves of games. This was the case in the Biggs' game and the Princeton game where even games were turned into defeats in the second halves.

A lack of players puts problems into practice sessions, said Gleason, since there is no intra-squad competition to spur the players on. It also forces the varsity to work out against the J.V. rather than between themselves.

Gleason thinks that good football seasons go in cycles. Two years ago, Los Molinos had an unbeaten team. He thinks that in another two years, the Bulldogs will field a good team. The junior varsity had twenty five players on the team this season, including 18 freshmen. If they stay together, the Bulldogs' fortunes should improve. In Los Molinos, a good season is a matter of numbers.

Raiders Take On Denver

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Raiders will try to start all over again Sunday when they meet the charged-up Denver Broncos in an American Football League game.

The Raiders, who lost their first regular-season game in 16 contests last week and were knocked out of the AFL's Western Division lead, face a Denver team that scored the first shut-out in its 134-game history last week.

Oakland was knocked off 31-17 by Cincinnati while Denver all but destroyed any title hopes the San Diego Chargers may have had with a 13-0 victory.

Both teams will be missing a top running back, but the loss is more likely to hurt the Broncos. Floyd Little, whose 637 yards gained rushing is far more than half the Denver total, will be out with a knee injury he suffered last week. Third-year man Fran Lynch will take Little's place.

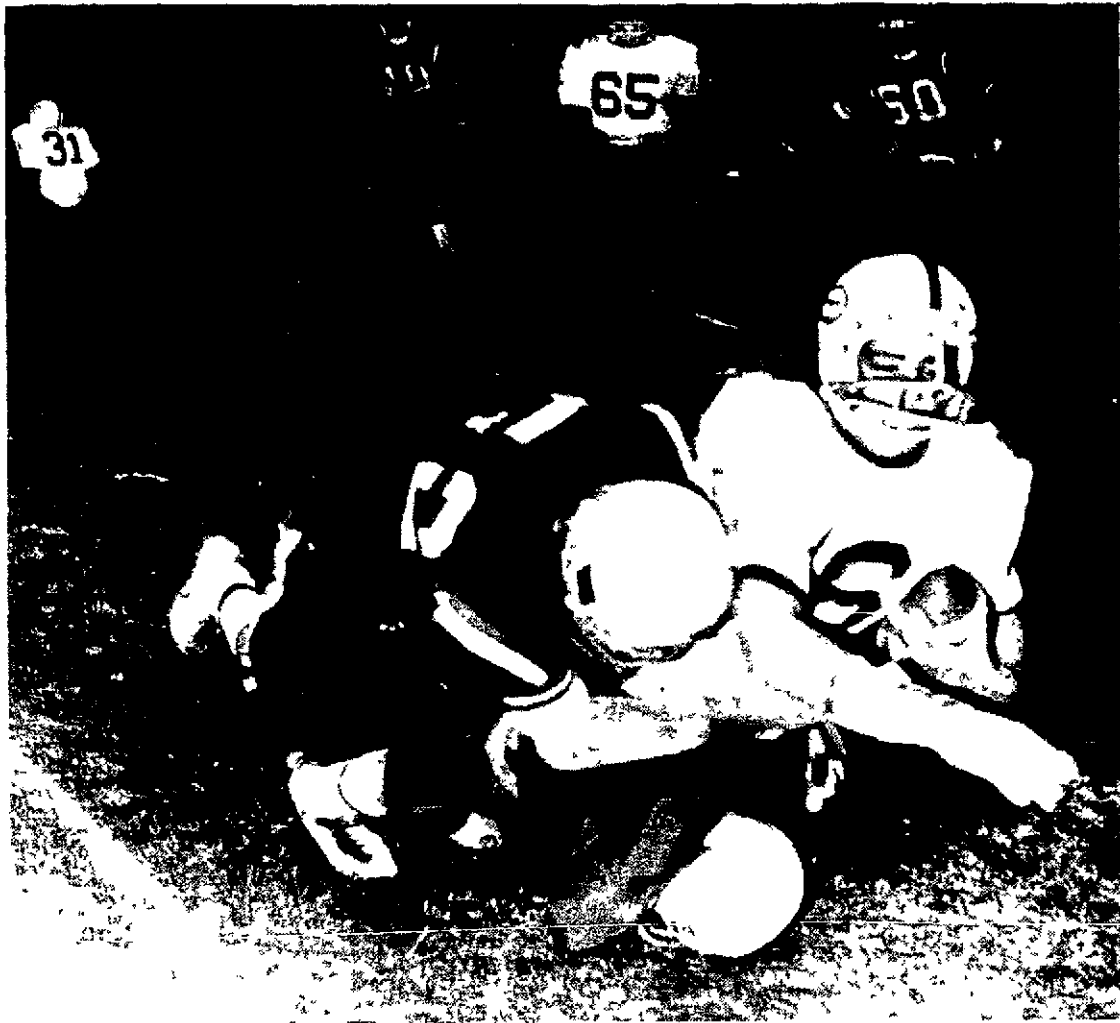

Pete Banaszak, the Raiders' second leading ground gainer, pulled a groin muscle last week and has not worked out this week. He is doubtful for the Broncos.

But Hewitt Dixon, Oakland's all-league fullback, appears to be ready to make his first start in five games this season. And the Raiders' No. 1 ground gainer, Charlie Smith, is healthy.

Darryle Lamonica will try to recover from his five-interception performance against the Bengals and lead the Raiders to a repeat of their 24-14 victory over the Broncos in Denver earlier in the season.

Steve Tensi, praised by Denver Coach Lou Saban for his performance in the San Diego shutout, will be at the controls for the Broncos.

In addition, four of the top five pass receivers in the AFL will be in action: Fred Biletnikoff and Warren Wells of the Raiders—numbers one and five respectively—and Mike Haffner and Al Denson of the Broncos—numbers three and four.

GOOD DEFENSE — Corning's Dennis Develter (52) brings down Orland's John Trammel as part of the Cardinal defensive effort that held Orland to six points. Corning won their Homecoming game by a 14 to 6 score. (photo by Jerry Askey)

Associated Press Sports Writer
Veteran San Francisco quarterback John Brodie, returning to a starter's role, and rookie signal-caller Bobby Douglass of the Chicago Bears will be aiming to end the longest winning and losing streaks in the National Football League Sunday.

Brodie is expected to get the nod over Steve Spurrier, who started for the 49ers the past two weeks, for the contest against the unbeaten Rams at Los Angeles.

The Roman Gabriel-led Rams have swept to seven straight victories, including a 27-21 triumph over the 49ers earlier in the year. However, in that one, the Rams had to score two touchdowns in the last quarter to escape. Brodie went all the way in that one and hit on 20 of 51 passes for 254 yards.

The 49ers, 1-5-1, are healthy but Los Angeles will be without offensive guard Joe Scibelli, lost for the season with knee surgery, and linebacker Myron Pottios, injured in an auto accident earlier this week.

Meanwhile, the Bears who have lost eight straight NFL games—seven this season—the most Chicago has ever lost in a row, will be at home and favored to make Pittsburgh, 1-6, their first victims of 1969.

Douglass, the newcomer from Kansas, will be making his third straight start. With Douglass at the controls, Gale Sayers, the Bears running ace, rebounding from knee surgery, has come on with two consecutive 100-yard plus games on the ground. Sayers swept for 114 yards last week and is now the No. 4 rusher in the league with 445 yards.

Terry Hanratty, who passed for three touchdowns on 14 of 23 before being shaken up in the fourth quarter of the Steelers 38-34 loss to Green Bay Sunday is expected to start. It will be the Notre Dame Rookie's third start of the year.

Other games Sunday have Century Division leader Cleveland, 5-1-1, at Minnesota, 6-1, the top club in the Central Division; New York, 3-4, at St. Louis, 2-4-1; Green Bay, 5-2, at Baltimore, 4-3; New Orleans, 1-6, at Dallas, 6-1; Philadelphia, 3-4, at Washington, 4-2-1; and Atlanta, 2-5, at Detroit, 4-3.

In the American Football League, Cincinnati is at Houston, Miami at Boston, Denver at Oakland, Buffalo at New York and San Diego at Kansas City.

The Browns, who slammed Dallas 42-10 last week and ended the Cowboys' unbeaten string at six, will be out to stop the red-hot Vikings, who have won six straight after an opening game loss to the Giants.

Xavier Laurels To Be Earned By Girl For First Time

CINCINNATI (AP) — Kathy Keating will chalk up a "first" for Xavier University today no matter how she fares in the Ohio Collegiate Women's Swimming Championships.

The 19-year-old sophomore will become the first female to represent Xavier in intercollegiate sports. And only a few days ago, the Xavier athletic department did not know that it had any women's "teams" for any sports. The school began admitting women to fulltime graduate programs only this fall.

"I'm really excited about it," the pretty coed said about the debut of the "team" — herself — at the meet to be held at Denison University in Granville, Ohio.

BOSTON (AP) — Swede Nelson and 13 other living members of Harvard's 1919 Rose Bowl team observed a 50th anniversary reunion Friday night at a dinner in the Harvard Club of Boston.

Nicklaus Obvious Favorite

HONOLULU (AP) — Jack Nicklaus held a four-stroke lead today after the third round of the $125,000 Hawaiian Open golf tournament, was a prohibitive favorite to annex his third consecutive title—and was far from satisfied.

"If you'd asked me before I started the round if I would be satisfied with 71, I would have said yes," Nicklaus said Friday after scrambling in with a one-under-par round.

"But after the way I played the front nine, I can't say I'm satisfied. I got pretty sloppy on the back nine."

Nicklaus, who now has played 15 consecutive subpar rounds and has led or shared the lead in the last seven competitive rounds, had a 36 hole total of 134, 10 under par after two trips over the 7,020 yard, par 72 Waialae Country Club course.

Well back in second were Tom Weiskopf and Ken Still, tied at 138. Weiskopf had a second round 68 and Still a 71.

In the group at 141 were Bob Murphy, who had the best round of the day, a 67, Billy Casper, 68, and Arnold Palmer, 71.

The blustery Trade Winds, with gusts nearly 50 miles an hour, played havoc with the scores and was the reason Nicklaus said he originally would have been satisfied with a 71.

Big Jack opened erratically, going birdie, bogey, birdie, bogey before settling down. He then ran in putts of 25, 16 and 30 feet on three of the next four holes and made the turn in 33, three under par.

Just as it appeared he was going to run away and hide from the rest of the field, however, he started having his troubles.

Chamberlain Might Be Out For Season

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Towering Wilt Chamberlain might be lost to the Los Angeles Lakers for the remainder of the National Basketball Association season, but the injury that decked him was no surprise to Laker Coach Joe Mullaney.

The 7-foot-2 Chamberlain, playing possibly his greatest game as a Laker Friday night, suddenly went down as his right knee gave way. It was diagnosed as a ruptured tendon high in the right knee cap.

The Lakers eventually lost a 122-120 decision to Phoenix. "When I came to Los Angeles," said first-year Laker Coach Mullaney, "I was told Chamberlain had a bad case of arthritis in his knees and constant pounding of the running up and down the court would shorten his career."

"That's why I kind of let Wilt set his own pace in practices." In other NBA games, San Francisco nipped Boston 111-

110, Detroit beat Philadelphia 134-129 in double overtime, New York took San Diego 129-111 and Baltimore defeated Seattle 126-112.

In the American Basketball Association, Indiana romped past the New York Nets 118-103, Carolina edged Denver 105-104, New Orleans beat Dallas 101-98 and Los Angeles topped Pittsburgh 124-111.

Chamberlain's injury was described by Dr. Robert Kerlan, famed orthopedic specialist, as "almost identical to the one suffered by Elgin Baylor some years ago."

Baylor missed part of the 1965-66 season with the injury but made a successful comeback the following season.

Before he left Friday's game, however, Chamberlain made his presence felt.

He hit the first 10 shots in the first quarter and wound up the game with 33 points, two assists and 15 rebounds.

Ballplayer's Dream

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gus Johnson slipped into his black silk underwear and talked again about his burning desire to make the National Basketball Association's All-Star team.

It was a perfect time for the Baltimore Bullets to review his accomplishments of the young season, especially the game he had just played.

As Baltimore whipped the Seattle SuperSonics 126-112 Friday night, Johnson had 15 points, 23 rebounds, eight assists and played his usual hard-nosed defense.

After 12 games, Johnson leads the Bullets with 207 rebounds or an average of 17 a game, and in shooting percentage at .487 while scoring at a 19-point average. Gus also leads in another way — as team captain.

"I've got to make the first team this year," Johnson said of his All-Star chances while pulling on a pair of comfortable looking boots, with zippers up the side.

"The main thing is to impress my fellow players, not the writers," Johnson said. "They're going to vote for their favorites, anyway."

The official NBA All-Star team is picked by sports writers in the 14 league cities. Another poll, conducted by the Sporting News, is selected by the players. Johnson twice made the official All-Star second team in 1964-65, and 1965-66.

Rolling Stones Upstage Rangers-Kings Hockey

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Kings and the New York Rangers, upstaged by the Rolling Stones rock group, were scheduled to meet this afternoon instead of tonight in a National Hockey League game.

The game originally set for 11 p.m., EST, was moved up to 2 p.m. when Kings owner Jack Kent Cooke booked the Rolling Stones' concert in his all-purpose Forum for tonight.

The Rangers were not happy about the rescheduling. Emile Francis, general manager and coach of the Rangers, released a statement Friday through the club's New York office which said:

Corning Cardinals Upset Orland In Homecoming Game, 14 to 6

By JOHN WILSON

Corning clinched their Homecoming last night as both the J.V. and the varsity dumped the Orland Trojans. The Cardinals scored twice in the first half and held the Trojans for a 14 to 6 score. In the scoreless second half, both teams were able to stop offensive drives. Penalties put a damper on both offensive teams.

The varsity game started off by Corning kicking to Orland. The Trojans managed a 55 yard drive with Hense and Matousek connecting on passes and runs. Matousek bulled his way over the goal line from four yards out but the conversion pass was incomplete.

It was early in the second quarter when Corning scored. Ken White and Dale West moved the ball downfield with twenty seconds gone in the second quarter. White took the ball in from the five yard line. The extra point try was incomplete tying the score at 6-6.

The Trojans started another drive and went 13 yards before the ball was recovered by John Stover. From the 31 yard line, West and White moved the ball into scoring position where Ellis skipped around end for the third touchdown of the game. Ken White carried the ball across the goal line and added two points to make the score 14 to 6.

Orland moved the ball 26 yards to the Cardinal 21 but on a fourth down play the ball was fumbled which was recovered by Ron Salado.

With little time remaining in the first half, Orland came close to getting the ball at the Cardinal 11. Corning had a kick blocked on a third down. The ball was recovered and kicked again by the Cards. The Trojans were downed at the 36 yard line. From here, Corning's defense held them.

At halftime of the varsity game, the Cardinals Homecoming Queen Marcia Milion was crowned by the Cardinal co-captains Ken White and Dale West. Also introduced were class princesses, juniors Laurie McKinney, sophomore Cindy Perry, and freshman Denise La Musga.

The seniors received the trophy for the most outstanding float in the Homecoming parade.

The third quarter started off with the Cardinals taking the ball to the 35 yard line. Although both teams continued to grind out yardage, the Cardinal defense appeared to hold the edge.

The biggest yardage gain in the second half by Orland appeared to be by penalties. The Corning pass rush on Orland held the Trojans to little or no yardage forcing them to grind out short yardage.

Randy and Ron Salado were particularly effective in throwing Dennis Ballock, the Orland quarterback, for large losses.

Linebacker Sonny Crawford gave the Cardinals one opportunity to score as he intercepted a pass at the 35 yard line.

A clipping penalty on the third play stopped the drive and forced the Cardinals to kick. Neither team was able to make any headway in the fourth quarter.

In the closing minutes of the game, Ellis intercepted a pass to stop an Orland drive. Corning was not able to run out the clock giving Orland the final twenty seconds of ball control. The final pass play went incomplete giving Corning the victory.

Dave Lucero and Rocky Hale proved to be the baby Cards offensive stars as they contributed two touchdowns apiece. Lucero was the leading yardage gainer of the evening as he scored the first two Corning touchdowns. He also added a two point conversion as the J.V. won 28 to 14.

Three Los Molinos Players All-League

By PAUL CLEGG

Los Molinos Bulldogs, hurt by the prune harvest, too few ballplayers, and injuries to key players, still managed to produce a team that came up with three all-league selections. The three were named to the Northern Valley League all-star team at a meeting this week. Official announcement will be made next week.

Seniors Ken Wohletz and Joe Costa were named to the offensive guard positions while junior Darrell Mullins took the defensive tackle spot. For Costa, this is his second year as an all-league choice.

Los Molinos ended its season last Saturday in the third quarter of its game with Hayfork. The Bulldogs were outclassed by Hayfork but the forfeit summed up the problems of Los Molinos. Dave Morey was the third Los Molinos player to be injured that game which meant that Coach Ron Gleason had the choice of playing an injured man or forfeiting the game since only ten healthy players remained. Even before the game, the Bulldogs were without the services of four starters, who had been lost at various points in the season.

The Bulldogs had a poor season, with one win, six losses and a tie. Coach Gleason believes that if his team had more players, they would have won a good percentage of their games. He feels that having to play both ways put undue physical strain on his team so that they suffered in the second halves of games. This was the case in the Biggs' game and the Princeton game where even games were turned into defeats in the second halves.

A lack of players puts problems into practice sessions, said Gleason, since there is no intra-squad competition to spur the players on. It also forces the varsity to work out against the J.V. rather than between themselves.

Gleason thinks that good football seasons go in cycles. Two years ago, Los Molinos had an unbeaten team. He thinks that in another two years, the Bulldogs will field a good team. The junior varsity had twenty five players on the team this season, including 18 freshmen. If they stay together, the Bulldogs' fortunes should improve. In Los Molinos, a good season is a matter of numbers.

Raiders Take On Denver

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Raiders will try to start all over again Sunday when they meet the charged-up Denver Broncos in an American Football League game.

The Raiders, who lost their first regular-season game in 16 contests last week and were knocked out of the AFL's Western Division lead, face a Denver team that scored the first shut-out in its 134-game history last week.

Oakland was knocked off 31-17 by Cincinnati while Denver all but destroyed any title hopes the San Diego Chargers may have had with a 13-0 victory.

Both teams will be missing a top running back, but the loss is more likely to hurt the Broncos. Floyd Little, whose 637 yards gained rushing is far more than half the Denver total, will be out with a knee injury he suffered last week. Third-year man Fran Lynch will take Little's place.

Pete Banaszak, the Raiders' second leading ground gainer, pulled a groin muscle last week and has not worked out this week. He is doubtful for the Broncos.

But Hewitt Dixon, Oakland's all-league fullback, appears to be ready to make his first start in five games this season. And the Raiders' No. 1 ground gainer, Charlie Smith, is healthy.

Darryle Lamonia will try to recover from his five-interception performance against the Bengals and lead the Raiders to a repeat of their 24-14 victory over the Broncos in Denver earlier in the season.

Steve Tensi, praised by Denver Coach Lou Saban for his performance in the San Diego shutout, will be at the controls for the Broncos.

In addition, four of the top five pass receivers in the AFL will be in action: Fred Biletnikoff and Warren Wells of the Raiders—numbers one and five respectively—and Mike Haffner and Al Denson of the Broncos—numbers three and four.

49ers Face Unbeaten L.A. Rams

By TOM SALADINO

Associated Press Sports Writer Veteran San Francisco quarterback John Brodie, returning to a starter's role, and rookie signal-caller Bobby Douglass of the Chicago Bears will be aiming to end the longest winning and losing streaks in the National Football League Sunday.

Brodie is expected to get the nod over Steve Spurrier, who started for the 49ers the past two weeks, for the contest against the unbeaten Rams at Los Angeles.

The Roman Gabriel-led Rams have swept to seven straight victories, including a 27-21 triumph over the 49ers earlier in the year. However, in that one, the Rams had to score two touchdowns in the last quarter to escape. Brodie went all the way in that one and hit on 20 of 51 passes for 254 yards. The 49ers, 1-5-1, are healthy but Los Angeles will be without offensive guard Joe Schell, lost for the season with knee surgery, and linebacker Myron Pottios, injured in an auto accident earlier this week.

Meanwhile, the Bears who have lost eight straight NFL games—seven this season—the most Chicago has ever lost in a row, will be at home and favored to make Pittsburgh, 1-6, their first victims of 1969. Douglass, the newcomer from Kansas, will be making his third straight start. With Douglass at the controls, Gale Sayers, the Bears running ace, rebounding from knee surgery, has come on with two consecutive 100-yard-plus games on the ground. Sayers swept for 114 yards last week and is now the No. 4 rusher in the league with 445 yards.

Terry Hanratty, who passed for three touchdowns on 14 of 23 before being shaken up in the fourth quarter of the Steelers 38-34 loss to Green Bay Sunday is expected to start. It will be the Notre Dame Rookie's third start of the year.

Other games Sunday have Century Division leader Cleveland, 5-1-1, at Minnesota, 6-1, the top club in the Central Division; New York, 3-4, at St. Louis, 2-4-1; Green Bay, 5-2, at Baltimore, 4-3; New Orleans, 1-6, at Dallas, 6-1; Philadelphia, 3-4, at Washington, 4-2-1; and Atlanta, 2-5, at Detroit, 4-3.

In the American Football League, Cincinnati is at Houston, Miami at Boston, Denver at Oakland, Buffalo at New York and San Diego at Kansas City.

The Browns, who slammed Dallas 42-10 last week and ended the Cowboys' unbeaten string at six, will be out to stop the red-hot Vikings, who have won six straight after an opening game loss to the Giants.

Xavier Laurels To Be Earned By Girl For First Time

CINCINNATI (AP) — Kathy Keating will chalk up a "first" for Xavier University today no matter how she fares in the Ohio Collegiate Women's Swimming Championships.

The 19-year-old sophomore will become the first female to represent Xavier in intercollegiate sports. And only a few days ago, the Xavier athletic department did not know that it had any women's "teams" for any sports. The school began admitting women to fulltime graduate programs only this fall.

"I'm really excited about it," the pretty coed said about the debut of the "team" — herself — at the meet to be held at Denison University in Granville, Ohio.

World Of 4-H Is Living And Learning

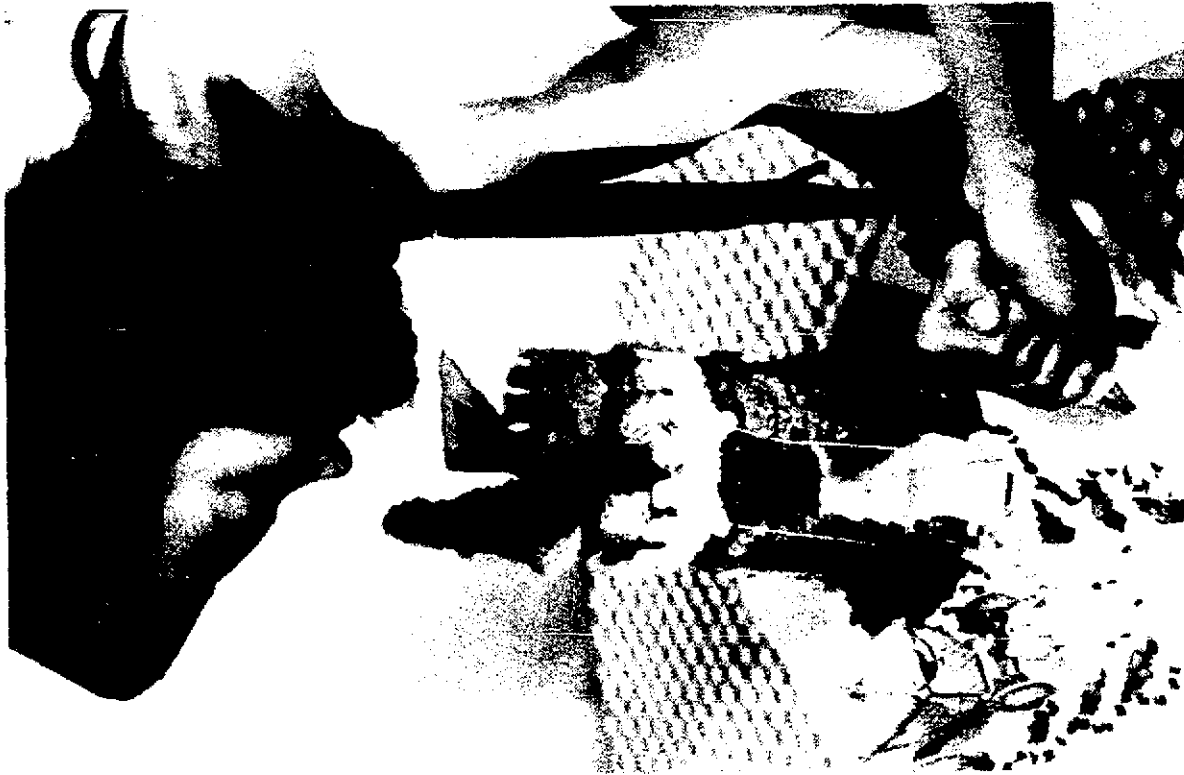

BUILDING — Building things you can use today, the skills you will use tomorrow.

FARMING — Working with your project can sometimes be difficult. Especially when your project prefers a mud hole to you.

TRACTORING — Looking back on the plow as it turns up the rich black soil, looking forward to a brighter future.

BAKING — A cake is more than just food when your project is a palace.

Boys And Girls Building A Tomorrow

Heart, head, health, hands, 4-H means many things to many people. In Telama County there are 19 active 4-H clubs with more than 450 members. The youngsters take part in projects that will better them today and prepare them for tomorrow. Gary Stone, the county farm advisor in charge of 4-H, is a "behind the scenes" individual. Working closely with 4-H leaders and members, his quiet manner often hides the zeal with which he pursues his job. The future holds much for those individuals that prepare for it. 4-H can be the first step in that preparation.

DOCTORING — A fellow learns by doing. Your project may be a rabbit or a thousand-pound steer, in either case it's your responsibility.

GROWING — Growing a crop that will pay in satisfaction and in money for that first year of college.

SEWING — Feeling the satisfaction of creating from cloth a dress that is exclusively yours.

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: My brother is coming home from Vietnam in a few weeks. The reason I am writing is because his wife brought over Lem's last letter for me to read. It said, "I hope you will come to the airport and bring the children and nobody else. I want to be alone with you and the kids for 24 hours. My nerves are shot and I am not up to seeing the rest of the family for a day or so."

I have never been so hurt in my life. I love my brother very much and I know Mom and Dad will be crushed if they don't get to go to the airport to meet him. I'm sure Lem was in a depressed mood and not thinking straight when he wrote that letter.

I have every intention of going to the airport and bringing Mom and Dad because I think it is the right thing to do. It's as simple as that. Please tell me you think I am right. — Blood Is Thicker Than Water

Dear Thicker: Sorry, I can't tell you I think you are right, because I think you are wrong. It's as simple as that.

Dear Ann Landers: I am Mr. Average American — three children, a nice home, small mortgage. Since plenty of wives sound off in your space, I hope you'll give a husband equal time.

I'm fed up on my wife bluffing her way through life by calling herself a housekeeper. Our house looks O.K. at a glance, but don't open a closet or a drawer, or look under the bed or in the refrigerator, or go to the basement.

My wife doesn't cook, she defrosts. She's the world's best can-opener and is a very good customer of the carry-out place down the street. She doesn't press much either — almost everything is drip dry or Perma-press.

How does a man get his wife to pay more attention to the house? Nothing is ever in the same place twice. I have just about blown my mind looking for a stamp to mail this letter.

— Disenchanted Ed

Dear Ed: I see you found it. Thanks for your perserverance. I wish I could do something to help, but it's hopeless. Your best bet is to show your lady love this column, tell her you wrote the letter and ask her what SHE is going to do about it?

Dear Ann Landers: For the first time in my life I experienced the death of a member of my immediate family. The relative was my mother and I am her sole heir.

My mother managed her own affairs. I had no idea where she did her banking, what she owed, who owed her, what she did with her good jewelry, if she had any cash tucked away, who carried her insurance, where the policies were, her social security number, her status with Medicare. I had none of the information I needed. Worse yet, her lawyer had died three months ago and his records were in terrible shape.

I had always felt uncomfortable about discussing financial matters with my mother for fear I might appear eager for inheritance. I was foolish and unrealistic.

Your column has helped me from time to time and I hope this letter will help you to help others. — Ignorance Inc.

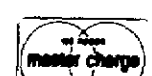

Dear Inc.: Your letter serves a dual purpose. It reminds those who have an estate to inform the next of kin of the vital details. It also points up the need for the next of kin to inquire if the information is not volunteered, dress was "1869s inspired," but the crocheted snood in Nanette's hair was "like the ones Ann Sheridan used to wear." Clowning down the runway, Miss Burnett showed an elongated smoking jacket-turned-evening gown, and Miss Fabray whirled about in an "Isadora Duncan dress", a flowing chiffon caftan.

Television Jargon Changes With Use

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television - Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) - Televisionese, like most slang and jargon, changes with time and usage. It is a combination of show business terminology, press agency, evasion and, often, wishful thinking.

Here are what some common TV words and phrases mean this season:

Star — Any actor with a regular role in a TV series—including an assortment of almost-human animals.

Superstar — Any performers whose name is also the name of his show, i.e., "The Andy Williams Show," "The Jackie Gleason Show," and, of course, "Lassie."

And also starring . . . Regular featured performer in a series.

Guest star — Performer of some stature in a one-shot-appearance.

Special guest star—Performer of some stature whose agent who has held out for better billing.

Rare television appearance—Guest appearance by a performer who has not appeared on the network for two or three months.

Hit show — Any series that most often receives a higher Nielsen rating than rival programs in the time period.

Smash hit — Any program, routinely among Nielsen's top 10.

Nielsen rating - A statistical projection of the size of television audiences made by a research company on program choices of about 1,200 homes throughout the nation, devoutly accepted by those with good ratings and scoffed at by those who have received bad news.

Second season — A January period when each network attempts to repair, by replacement and reshuffling, weak spots in its schedule.

Action series — Westerns, cops, private eyes, spies and soldiers, lots of physical stuff but, of course, no real violence.

Meaningful drama — Any program about grubby people in trouble which has a sad ending.

Public service program — A cultural or news show that attracts little sponsor interest, receives bad Nielsen ratings but — usually — good critical notices.

Controversial — Any subject which has conflicting points of view and its TV treatment results in a flurry of complaints, especially in Washington.

Adult entertainment — Talk shows in which "hell" and "damn" are used or which feature once-forbidden topics and off-color jokes.

Family entertainment — Kid shows in prime evening time. Children's programming — Shows which advertise toys, candy and peanut butter.

Youthful audience — The 18-34 crowd, the most desirable audience and the big consumers.

Mature viewers—Forget them, unless you are the manufacturer of a denture cleaner or a pain reliever.

Rowan And Martin Plan TV Special

NEW YORK (AP)—Rowan and Martin, seen every week in their own show, soon will be seen in a TV special, Johnny Carson, visible, most of the time, six nights a week, soon will be in a special. Aren't weekly or daily exposures, plus guest shots, enough?

"I don't know about the others," said Portia Nelson, "but Debbie Reynolds has a special because it was made before she was involved with her weekly comedy series."

"Debbie Reynolds and the Sound of Children," was shot last January and, Miss Nelson said, the sponsor waited until it could be broadcast in a felicitous time period. And felicitous it should be, since it comes just before Bob Hope's 90-minute adaptation of the musical comedy "Roberta."

Miss Nelson — actress, composer, singer, writer, nightclub performer — is an authority on the show since she wrote it — dialogue, words and music. It is pegged on the familiar rhyme that starts "Monday's child is fair of face," and contains more children than "The Sound of Music" and "The King and I" combined.

"A couple of years ago a friend gave me a bracelet charm for my day, (Thursday) . . . works hard for a living" and that gave me an idea for a musical show," explained Miss Nelson.

"Then another friend read it and said it was just the thing for Debbie Reynolds."

New Soap Opera

ABC will abandon its daytime game show "Dream House" the first of next year, replacing it with a soap opera, "All My Children."

Replacements For Shows In Offing

Midseason action is warming up in the television bullpen. "Hec Haw" is back in production, certain of a CBS spot around New Years, probably the current "Leslie Uggams Show" time period. Johnny Cash and his crew start making new shows for ABC in the next 10 days.

Programming executives of all three networks are in conference about cancellations and replacements. Among programs likely to disappear at midseason is CBS' "The Good Guys." ABC is unhappy about the reception of "Music Scene," "The New People," "The Brady Bunch" and "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town."

Replacements For Shows In Offing

Midseason action is warming up in the television bullpens. "Hee Haw" is back in production, certain of a CBS spot around New Years, probably the current "Leslie Uggams Show" time period. Johnny Cash and his crew start making new shows for ABC in the next 10 days.

Programming executives of all three networks are in conference about cancellations and replacements. Among programs likely to disappear at midseason is CBS' "The Good Guys." ABC is unhappy about the reception of "Music Scene," "The New People" "The Brady Bunch" and "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town."

Television Jargon Changes With Use

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television - Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Television, like most slang and jargon, changes with time and usage. It is a combination of show business terminology, press agency, evasion and, often, wishful thinking.

Here are what some common TV words and phrases mean this season:

Star — Any actor with a regular role in a TV series—including an assortment of almost-human animals.

Superstar — Any performers whose name is also the name of his show, i.e., "The Andy Williams Show," "The Jackie Gleason Show," and, of course, "Lassie."

And also starring . . . Regular featured performer in a series.

Guest star — Performer of some stature in a one-shot-appearance.

Special guest star — Performer of some stature whose agent who has held out for better billing.

Rare television appearance — Guest appearance by a performer who has not appeared on the network for two or three months.

Hit show — Any series that most often receives a higher Nielsen rating than rival programs in the time period.

Smash hit — Any program, routinely among Nielsen's top 10.

Nielsen rating — A statistical projection of the size of television audiences made by a research company on program choices of about 1,200 homes throughout the nation, devoutly accepted by those with good ratings and scoffed at by those who have received bad news.

Second season — A January period when each network attempts to repair, by replacement and reshuffling, weak spots in its schedule.

Action series — Westerns, cops, private eyes, spies and soldiers, lots of physical stuff but, of course, no real violence.

Meaningful drama — Any program about gritty people in trouble which has a sad ending.

Public service program — A cultural or news show that attracts little sponsor interest, receives bad Nielsen ratings but — usually — good critical notices.

Controversial — Any subject which has conflicting points of view and its TV treatment results in a flurry of complaints, especially in Washington.

Adult entertainment — Talk shows in which "hell" and "damn" are used or which feature once-fortified topics and off-color jokes.

Family entertainment — Kid shows in prime evening time.

Children's programming — Shows which advertise toys, candy and peanut butter.

Youthful audience — The 18-34 crowd, the most desirable audience and the big consumers.

Mature viewers — Forget them, unless you are the manufacturer of a denture cleaner or a pain reliever.

Rowan And Martin Plan TV Special

NEW YORK (AP)—Rowan and Martin, seen every week in their own show, soon will be seen in a TV special. Johnny Carson, visible, most of the time, six nights a week, soon will be in a special. Aren't weekly or daily exposures, plus guest shots, enough?

"I don't know about the others," said Portia Nelson, "but Debbie Reynolds has a special because it was made before she was involved with her weekly comedy series."

"Debbie Reynolds and the Sound of Children," was shot last January and, Miss Nelson said, the sponsor waited until it could be broadcast in a felicitous time period. And felicitous it should be, since it comes just before Bob Hope's 90-minute adaptation of the musical comedy "Roberta."

Miss Nelson — actress, composer, singer, writer, nightclub performer — is an authority on the show since she wrote it — dialogue, words and music. It is pegged on the familiar rhyme that starts "Monday's child is fair of face," and contains more children than "The Sound of Music" and "The King and I" combined.

"A couple of years ago a friend gave me a bracelet charm for my day, (Thursday) . . . works hard for a living" and that gave me an idea for a musical show," explained Miss Nelson.

"Then another friend read it and said it was just the thing for Debbie Reynolds."

New Soap Opera

ABC will abandon its daytime game show "Dream House" the first of next year, replacing it with a soap opera, "All My Children."

ANN LANDERS

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: My brother is coming home from Vietnam in a few weeks. The reason I am writing is because his wife brought over Lem's last letter for me to read. It said, "I hope you will come to the airport and bring the children and nobody else. I want to be alone with you and the kids for 24 hours. My nerves are shot and I am not up to seeing the rest of the family for a day or so."

I have never been so hurt in my life. I love my brother very much and I know Mom and Dad will be crushed if they don't get to go to the airport to meet him. I'm sure Lem was in a depressed mood and not thinking straight when he wrote that letter.

I have every intention of going to the airport and bringing Mom and Dad because I think it is the right thing to do. It's as simple as that. Please tell me you think I am right. — Blood Is Thicker Than Water

Dear Thicker: Sorry, I can't tell you I think you are right, because I think you are wrong. It's as simple as that.

Dear Ann Landers: I am Mr. Average American — three children, a nice home, small mortgage. Since plenty of wives sound off in your space, I hope you'll give a husband equal time. I'm fed up on my wife bluffing her way through life by calling herself a housekeeper. Our house looks O.K. at a glance, but don't open a closet or a drawer, or look under the bed or in the refrigerator, or go to the basement.

My wife doesn't cook, she defrosts. She's the world's best can-opener and is a very good customer of the carry-out place down the street. She doesn't press much either — almost everything is drip dry or Perma-press.

How does a man get his wife to pay more attention to the house? Nothing is ever in the same place twice. I have just about blown my mind looking for a stamp to mail this letter.

— Disenchanted Ed

Dear Ed: I see you found it. Thanks for your perseverance. I wish I could do something to help, but it's hopeless. Your best bet is to show your lady love this column, tell her you wrote the letter and ask her what SHE is going to do about it?

Dear Ann Landers: For the first time in my life I experienced the death of a member of my immediate family. The relative was my mother and I am her sole heir.

My mother managed her own affairs. I had no idea where she did her banking, what she owed, who owed her, what she did with her good jewelry, if she had any cash tucked away, who carried her insurance, where the policies were, her social security number, her status with Medicare. I had none of the information I needed. Worse yet, her lawyer had died three months ago and his records were in terrible shape.

I had always felt uncomfortable about discussing financial matters with my mother for fear I might appear eager for inheritance. I was foolish and unrealistic.

Your column has helped me from time to time and I hope this letter will help you to help others. — Ignorance Inc.

Dear Inc.: Your letter serves a dual purpose. It reminds those who have an estate to inform the next of kin of the vital details. It also points up the need for the next of kin to inquire if the information is not volunteered.

Styles Of Previous Stars Fashion Hits

By LINDA DEUTSCH
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The ghosts of movieland—past hovered over goddess-inspired fashions at an opening night of a new design collection.

The fashions spectacular, staged by designers Ray Aghayan and Bob Mackie in a tent behind their new boutique, signaled the entrance of the two Emmy-winning costume designers into the retail market. Swathed in satins, silks and sexy see-through chiffon gowns, comedienne Carol Burnett and Nanette Fabray and dancer Juliette Prowse pranced down a fashion runway.

The audience included actress Joan Collins, producer Ross Hunter, singer Lainie Kazan and author Gwen Davis.

The collection included a "Carol Lombard" dress, worn by Miss Prowse—a slinky black satin gown with an adjustable neckline that zipped down to the navel.

Miss Fabray wore a "Gone with the Wind" gown, ankle length red velvet with white organdy collar. Mackie said the dress was "1860s inspired," but the crocheted snood in Nanette's hair was "like the ones Ann Sheridan used to wear."

Clowning down the runway, Miss Burnett showed an elongated smoking jacket-turned-evening gown, and Miss Fabray whirled about in an "Isadora Duncan dress", a flowing chiffon caftan.
